Introduction Letter

Dear Sir,

Thank you for the opportunity and privilege to introduce the services offered by Doksun Power (P) Ltd., our primary business line includes:

Manufacturing of earthing electrodes & lightning arrester and undertake total designing, supply and installation (turnkey) work for the same.

An overview for Earthing/Grounding Protection:

The most important safety system in any building or zone is the one protecting from the hazards of fault current. Earthing/grounding systems have to perform effectively all the time; if a deficiency in the system is unnoticed or unaddressed it may result in damage to equipment, operational failure or the death of living beings. Consequently prudent organizations refuse to compromise on the provision for earthing/grounding. All construction projects have to address the challenges presented by faulty electrical current. A failure to effectively protect against fault current can have disastrous, even fatal consequences. For this reason it is essential that the scale of the potential hazard is established in advance and then specifically addressed through an effective earthing/grounding design and it is for this reason that prudent companies seek technically sound companies to get support in this provision.

An overview for Lightning Protection:

The spectacle of lightning has inspired awe and fear as long as been life on this planet. Our fascination with lightning is akin to our fascination with potentially dangerous animals or activities. The truth of the matter is that with the exception of floods (which affect entire populated area in a single event) lightning is the biggest weather-linked killer. Whilst lightning may not threaten everyday lightning protection is still essential.

By the above mentioned brief introduction about Earthing and Lightning protection one shall assume the gravity of the products and solutions provided. We have already worked with reputed companies and satisfied them with our quality product and service. Please remember us in your current and upcoming projects. We are a company with expertise and work at very competitive price.

With best regards,

From, Doksun Power Pvt. Ltd.
